=====

As I write, we are basking in September sunshine, but as you read this the autumn will be well and truly with us, bringing with it the annual renaissance of artistic activity of all sorts in our fortunate borough – and it won't take you long, as you scan the pages of this diary, to realise just how blessed we are.

We've changed the layout a bit of late in an attempt to make everything easier to find, but maybe you'd like a word of explanation while Chairman John's away.

Firstly, we introduced more sections, to help you get to the sort of event which interests you most, so now you can go quickly to Art & Crafts, Culture & Learning, Dance, Drama Film & Poetry, Leisure or Music, plus a Younger Years section at the start, and a Multi-activity section at the end for events which fall into more than one category: the Ealing Autumn Festival is a prime example of this, and if you don't have the programme which came with the August-September Diary I hope you will check their website for their splendid range of offerings.

Within each section I put one-off events first, in date order, so if you find yourself free on a particular day you can quickly find something to go to. After that, I list repeating events, such as a weekly series of concerts or societies' regular meetings.

Finally, right at the back, there's a list of all the members of Ealing Arts + Leisure. Not all of them put a listing in every edition, but you can find out more about any which interest you on the Members List page of the web site or by ringing 020 8998 4465.

Nothing works for everyone, so do get in touch if you have ideas for improvements.

John Hummerston will have far more interesting things to say here in the next issue. In the meantime, I think you will find much in the following pages to enjoy.

Richard Partridge, Diary Editor

We organise full day walks on Sundays and organise walking weekends away. We walk in the countryside in the Chilterns and Surrey, and also have local walks. Walks are usually 8-12 miles in length with a pub or picnic stop for lunch. We usually meet and drive to the starting place, although we also have walks that use public transport. Please see our website for full programme of walks.

A tale of two newly wedded Venetian gondoliers lifted from obscurity to rule the “Spanish” kingdom of Barataria. Only one can be king – of that “there is no possible doubt whatever” – but who will it be? And which of the wives will be the “Regular Royal Queen”. Complicated by the fact that one of the Gondoliers was unknowingly married in infancy to the Duke of Plaza-Toro’s beautiful daughter Casilda.

Set initially in Venice in the 1950’s this is a traditional production of one of Gilbert & Sullivan’s favourite operas full of fun with good tunes and witty patter songs. Entertainment for all the family.

Ealing Autumn Festival 2012

www.ealingautumnfestival.co.uk

DELIUS & DICKENS

Dubbed “the enterprising Ealing Autumn Festival” by Norman Lebrecht, this year’s Festival opens on Oct 12th at Ealing Town Hall with Julian Lloyd Webber heading a line-up of outstanding musicians playing and singing the music of Delius. The concerts are supported by a walk, talk, films and exhibition to celebrate the 150th anniversary of Delius’s birth and take a fresh look at a fascinating and cosmopolitan musical personality.

Dickens’s 200th anniversary is celebrated in community events and classic film screenings including Nicholas Nickleby at Ealing Studios hosted by Met Film. The Festival is also launching three Heritage Projects exploring the life and work of Delius: Delius in Hanwell 1892, From Florida to the First Cuckoo, revealing the influence of African-American music, and Jewels in the Crown, exploring inspiration from Asian literature and music.

The projects will be showcased in booklet publications and an exhibition rotating around Ealing venues until May 2013. Applications to participate are welcome: contact info@ealingautumnfestival.co.uk / 020 8567 7623 to register.
